Based on the provided texts, here are the results in three sections as requested:

1. Changes:
   - Name changed from "Google" to "Alphabet".
   - Address text has minor changes:
      - "California" replaced "CA".
      - "United states of america" replaced "USA".
   - Duns Number changed from "100" to "101".
2. Validation of Changes:
   - The change of the company name from "Google" to "Alphabet" can be validated through various credible sources such as official announcements, news articles, and regulatory filings.
   - The change in the address, although minor, can be validated by checking credible sources for official address updates from the company.
   - The change in the Duns Number can be validated by consulting official databases or documentation related to business registrations and identifications.
3. Date of Change:
   - Without specific context or information regarding when the changes occurred, determining the exact date of change is not possible. It would require accessing historical records, official announcements, or updates from the company.

For changes that cannot be validated:

- None of the changes mentioned fall into this category. However, if there were any such changes, it would be important to state the inability to validate and provide reasons accordingly.

For changes in address:

- The addresses in both texts refer to the same location, "1600 Amphitheatre Parkway Mountain View, CA 94043, USA". While minor differences exist in the formatting (e.g., "California" vs. "CA", "United states of america" vs. "USA"), they do not alter the location significantly. Therefore, no further validation regarding address changes is necessary.
